

Msc Ing Liliana Beatriz Molina Tirado
National Institute of Industrial Technology (INTI)

Msc Ing Liliana Beatriz Molina Tirado is a chemical engineer graduated from the National Technological University and has a Master degree in Wood, Cellulose and Paper Science from National University of Misiones (Argentina), a Speciality in Innovation and Technology Management.

She specializes in biorefinery and bioenergy from forest biomass. She has several paper published in these topics.

She was Technical Director of the Renewable Energy Technological Center at INTI. At the present she is in charge of the Energy and Mobility Deputy from the Technological Development and Innovation Management. She represents INTI in Renewable Energy, Storage Energy and Mobility issues.